A message from our Pastor

The Gospel story today is a very familiar one. The woman caught in the act of adultery is dragged before Jesus to be condemned to death by stoning; Jesus kneels to write names in the dirt; the crowd disperses until no one is left except the woman and Jesus. We know the end of this story, but how does this Gospel begin?

“Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.” This one little sentence introduces one of the most famous stories in the New Testament and yet most of us do not recall it. But it has enormous significance. Why?

The Mount of Olives is a mountain range made up of three peaks on the eastern border of Jerusalem. It separates the Judean desert from the city of Jerusalem. It was so named for the grove of olives that lined the hillside; oil made from those olives anointed kings. It is where the Garden of Gethsemane is located. It is a beautiful place and a must-see on a trip to the Holy Land. I have been there several times and you truly do get a sense of awe when you think that this really was a place where Jesus frequented during his life on earth and from where he ascended into heaven!

The Mount of Olives was a special place where Jesus went to pray; a place that gave him strength and courage. It was a place he invited his best friends to join him in prayer. There is still time these last two weeks of Lent to accept the invitation, open your heart and deepen your relationship with God. There are still several opportunities to go to the sacrament of Reconciliation before Easter. This Monday, April 4th, and next Monday, April 11th confessions will be heard at both Mater Christi Church and St. Mary Church from 6:00 – 6:45 PM. On Tuesday, April 5th, the parish reconciliation service will be held on the St. Mary campus. Confessions will be heard in St. Mary Church from 6:30 PM – 8:00 PM. Prior to coming to Church, you can watch a video on our website www.stpaulviparish.org under the Lent & Easter tab that will help you prepare for the sacrament.

Jesus longs for all of us to be reconciled with his Father, for all of us to understand the depth of mercy and compassion the Father has for each one of us. Over and over Jesus reminds us that no matter how long we have been away, no matter what we have done or what we have not done, He has opened the way for us and invites us to find our way home!

Fr. Tom May, Pastor

A message from our Associate Pastor

This past Friday, April 1st we celebrated the Feast of St. Hugh. It is a very important feast for our parish as St. Hugh is one of the legacy parishes that united to form St. Paul VI. Meg Hunter-Kilmer of Aleteia has us understand the struggle of St. Hugh of accepting that God would work through him. The Christian call to humility is a difficult one. For those who are extremely talented, good-looking, and well-liked, the challenge is to be more aware of flaws and of the fact that all that is good comes from God.

“Who confers distinction on you?” St. Paul asks in 1 Corinthians 4:7. “What do you possess that you have not received? And if you have received it, why are you boasting as if you did not receive it?”

Those who struggle with pride would do well to remember that every gift and talent and positive attribute they possess is a pure gift.

For others, the struggle lies elsewhere.

Despite your gifts, you feel inadequate for the task the Lord has put before you. Each time you fail, your temptation is to give up, certain that you can never be enough. Rather than recognize that the Lord qualifies the called, you despair that your efforts will only end in failure.

St. Hugh of Grenoble (1053-1132) was one of the latter. Despite being handsome and talented and so bright that he was chosen bishop at age 27, Hugh was so convinced of his own inadequacy that on more than one occasion, he abandoned his post and fled to a monastery, offering his resignation from a job he felt he couldn't handle.

Born to a pious family in France and praised for his intelligence from a very young age, the 27-year-old layman protested loudly when he was chosen bishop.

“But I repeat to you that I am not worthy of it!” he exclaimed. “What fairy tale is this that you're telling me?” asked Bishop Hugh of Die.

“Who is asking you to act on your own strength? Count first on God, who will give you help.” For the first time, Hugh of Grenoble was taught the lesson that would form the chorus of his life: it is God who works in you, or (in the words of Exodus 14:14), “The Lord himself will fight for you; you have only to be still.”

Bishop Hugh was overwhelmed by the tasks that lay before him when he inherited a diocese filled with corruption and disinterest. But he'd never failed before, so he took up his bishop's staff with a will and began fighting simony, ignorance, and clerical unchastity all over the diocese.

For two years he persevered but to little effect. Discouraged by his slow progress, he declared himself unfit for the episcopacy and retreated to a monastery to live out his life as a Benedictine monk. For a year, letters went back and forth between the monastery and the Vatican, with the Pope reminding him firmly that the Lord didn't need his talent but his faithfulness.

“But I repeat to you that I can't do anything that's good and worthwhile!” he insisted. “Very well, granted. You can't do anything, my son,” replied Pope St. Gregory VII, “but you are a bishop, and the Sacrament can do everything.”

Chastened, the good bishop returned to Grenoble to continue what he was certain would be a fruitless battle.

Often, it's only we who can't see the good effect of our work, and St. Hugh spent the next 50 years attempting again and again to resign his post, unable to see the reform his leadership and example were accomplishing.

Probably best known for his assistance in the formation of the Carthusians (St. Bruno was his mentor and St. Hugh gave them the land that would become the Grande Chartreuse), Hugh often retreated to the silent monastery. Each time there was a new pope, he would tender his resignation again, pleading with the Holy Father to find someone better suited to the task. Each time Rome and St. Bruno would remind him of his duty, both to his diocese and to the God who was the one working through him.

After his 52-year episcopate, the Diocese of Grenoble was an entirely different place, transformed by the natural gifts of St. Hugh and the power of God making use of a humble servant.

At the end of his life, still hoping to retire to a life of silent prayer, St. Hugh was able to make the words of Isaiah his own: “You mete out peace to us, O Lord, for it is you who have accomplished all we have done” (Isaiah 26:12).

He had spent half a century reforming the clergy, giving to the poor, and inspiring the faithful to follow in his humble footsteps. Despite suffering debilitating headaches for years, he neither complained nor slowed in his work, and at the end of his life he heard the Father welcome him to a well-deserved rest: “Well done, good and faithful servant.”

On April 1, the feast of St. Hugh of Grenoble, pray for all those who feel inadequate to the life the Lord has put before them, that in humility they will recognize that God himself will fight for them.

St. Hugh of Grenoble, pray for us!

Fr. Matt Nemchausky, Associate Pastor

Donations of many kinds are a part of our outreach to people in need throughout the community. We have a very generous faith family that continually looks for ways to give back. One type of donations we are NOT able to accept are used infant and toddler car seats. From a safety perspective the US government never recommends installing a used car seat. If a car seat has been in any type of crash, it is always recommended to replace that seat immediately as there is no guarantee that the seat would perform correctly if subjected to another crash. We graciously ask that you NOT drop used car seats off at either entrance to any of our facilities. Thank you!

ARCHDIOCESE UKRAINIAN AID FUND

On February 24, Russia initiated military action against Ukraine with attacks throughout the country, including in the capital city, Kyiv. The Church in Ukraine is helping to share and foster hope even amidst this violence. Though curfews keep the faithful from gathering in churches, “the Church will come to the people” by continuing to celebrate liturgy and provide the Sacraments in bomb shelters and underground stations.

Catholics in the US can also show their solidarity by participating in the annual Collection for the Church in Central and Eastern Europe. The collection will help the Church in Ukraine bring the light of Christ to the faithful affected by the darkness of war, violence, and loss of families and homes and provide other essential funding in the region. Your support of this collection is a tangible way of assisting the Church’s response and outreach to those affected and displaced by the violence. Please be generous.

Dear Father Thomas,

Thank you so very much for sending your compassionate gift of $2,725.20 to Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago that we received on 12/15/2021 for our Refugee Resettlement Program. Your support will allow us to provide support and resources for people who came to the United States in search of better and brighter futures. This gesture is yet another sign of your exceptional compassion...and a kindness that truly answers Christ's call to mercy.

Please also know that your generous gift to Catholic Charities will now be doubled—and will do twice as much good for people in need! Thanks to a unique matching opportunity from an anonymous friend, your gift will help sustain our programs and allow us to reach more lives than ever before.

Your gift couldn't have come at a better time. There are so many people who come to this country after fleeing war, persecution, and poverty. Your commitment is essential to helping give hope and support to those who have been threatened, persecuted, and marginalized.

Fr. Thomas, thank you again for your uplifting support. Thank you for your devotion to people in need, and for your belief in our mission. And most of all, thank you for the faithful friendship you share with us all.

With gratitude,

Angel Gutierrez
Vice President of Institutional Advancement

MASS BAGS FOR CHILDREN AT MATER CHRISTI CHURCH

Attention families with younger children, Mass bags are back! With COVID-19 restrictions easing, we are able to bring back the Mass bags. If you are unfamiliar with Mass bags, each bag contains a few faith-based books geared toward our youngest Mass attendees. The bags allow our toddlers and young children to engage with something pertaining to our faith during Mass. There are six Mass bags available at the Mater Christi worship site (and soon to be coming to St. Mary Church) for use during Mass. Why not take a look? If interested, please see an usher before Mass and ask for a bag. We kindly ask that you return the bag to the usher after Mass. The offerings of books in the Mass bags do rotate throughout the year and currently offer something for Easter. The Mass bags are sponsored by the Holy Name Society who works with Faith Formation to create the bag contents.
