A message from our Pastor

The long warm days of summertime help us to slow down and take a break. We give our minds and bodies a rest from the hectic pace of our everyday world. It is a time to relax, recharge and refresh. I urge you to carve out some of this time to pray, listen and discern where the Spirit is leading.

As we begin our second year as St. Paul VI Parish, I invite you to reflect upon the following prayer, and think about how you can be an active participant in our time of the Master Builder's plan.

The Long View

A Prayer for Archbishop Oscar Romero

It helps, now and then, to step back and take the long view.

The Kingdom is not only beyond our efforts,
It is even beyond our vision.

We accomplish in our lifetime only a tiny fraction of
The magnificent enterprise that is God's work.

Nothing we do is complete,
Which is another way of saying that
The Kingdom always lies beyond us.

No statement says all that should be said.
No prayer fully expresses our faith.
No confession brings perfection,
No pastoral visit brings wholeness,
No program accomplishes the church's mission.
No set of goals and objectives includes everything.

This is what we are about.
We plant the seeds that one day will grow.
We water seeds already planted,
Knowing that they hold future promise.
We lay foundations that will need further development.
We provide yeast that produces effects far beyond our capabilities.

We cannot do everything.
And there is a sense of liberation in realizing that.
This enables us to do something,
And do it very well.
It may be incomplete,
But it is a beginning,
A step along the way,
An opportunity for the Lord's grace to enter
And do the rest.

We may never see the end results,
But that is the difference
Between the master builder and the worker.
We are workers, not master builders,
Ministers, not messiahs.
We are prophets of a future that is not our own.
Amen.

Fr. Tom May, Pastor

A message from our Associate Pastor

During the summer you see so many dogs outside soaking up the Sun. Cerith Gardiner – Of Aleteia has some stories of helpful holy dogs. There's a very good reason that dogs are called "man's best friend." Not only do they provide comfort, entertainment, and a great reason to exercise, but they're also incredibly faithful.

So, in honor of our four-legged friends, we wanted to share some beautiful stories of how dogs have truly earned their moniker as a "man's best friend" throughout history.

The Domini canes

If you look at the iconography of St. Dominic, you'll often see him accompanied by a dog. In fact, when his mother, Blessed Jane of Aza, was pregnant, she had a dream in which a dog had a torch in his mouth and was running around the world setting it on fire. She went to a preacher to talk about the meaning of this unusual dream, and he told her that it meant she would give birth to a great preacher "who would set the world ablaze with the fire of his word," according to Catholic News Agency.

In fact, the name of the Dominican Order itself makes a pun on the importance of this dream, with Domini canes being Latin for "dogs of the Lord."

Interestingly, the dog that appeared in Blessed Jane's dream is sometimes believed to be a greyhound, a dog bursting with energy that can run around spreading the Word of God at great speed. This would tally with the work of St. Dominic, who was said to have converted over 100,000 people throughout his missions.

The dog that saved St. Roch

The 14th-century St. Roch is actually the patron saint of dogs. When the Frenchman caught the plague, he went into the forest to die. However, he was saved by a dog who not only licked his wounds to help him heal but also brought him food from the table of his master, Count Gothard Palastreslli.

One day the nobleman followed his dog into the woods and discovered the frail St. Roch. He brought him back to his home and helped him regain strength. Sadly, not long after Roch returned to his native Montpelier, he was arrested for being a spy and put in prison where he died five years later after wasting away.

The compassionate dogs of Lazarus

You will no doubt remember the parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus. We hear of the wretched Lazarus, who's lying in the streets having his sores licked by dogs. This act is open to interpretation. Some people think that Lazarus' plight was so terrible that the behavior of the dogs can be viewed as a final insult to him.

However, other people interpret the story to mean that the dogs took pity on Lazarus and tried to heal his wounds by licking them. The compassion of the dogs was even greater than Lazarus' fellow man, emphasizing the meaning behind the parable.

The mountain rescuer St. Bernard

You no doubt have seen pictures of the huge furry St. Bernard dog that carries a mini barrel of alcohol around his neck. Well, you might not know that it was thanks to monks in the Pennine Alps that this breed of dog became a mountain rescuer.

There is a snow-covered pass between Italy and Switzerland that was so dangerous an archdeacon, St. Bernard, built a canonry and hospice there in 1050 to welcome those seeking refuge. In 1660, the monks who were living there, cut off from the world for long periods of time, brought some dogs along to act as companions and watchdogs.

These clever mastiff-type dogs were able to detect if an avalanche was about to happen. They would guide the monks whenever they went out on journeys. A century later they also accompanied travelers, mainly pilgrims on their way to Rome, through the pass. It was quickly realized that these dogs had a strong sense of smell that could locate people buried under the snow.

Groups of dogs were sent out to find people. Once located, one dog would go back to the canonry and alert the monks, while the others would dig the person out and then cuddle up to them to offer some much-needed warmth.

It was only in 1880 that these dogs were given an official breed name — St. Bernard — after the original monk who bravely offered care for travelers all those centuries ago. Over the years, the dogs are believed to have rescued over 2,000 people.

The pass was named after the monk, too — the Great St. Bernard Pass — and a smaller one is known as the Little St. Bernard Pass.

The saintly dog named Guinefort

It's incredible to think that there is actually a dog who is a folk saint. Tradition has it that a French greyhound was left to look after the son of a knight while he was hunting. When the knight returned, he couldn't find his son, the nursery was a mess, and Guinefort the dog was covered in blood. The knight assumed the worst and killed the dog straight away.

However, he soon heard the cries of his child and saw a dead viper covered in dog bites lying close to him. The knight picked up his faithful hound and put him in a well, covering him with stones to make a shrine. Locals came to venerate the martyr dog, hoping he would heal their ills.

While Guinefort was never officially recognized as a saint in the Catholic Church, of course, his story is charming and appeals to dog lovers, Christian or not.

Stewardship: Gifts of Time, Talent & Treasure

Vincentian Reflection

In this Sunday's Gospel, Jesus affirms that to be a disciple we must also sit at his feet and listen to him. St. Vincent de Paul taught that it is only in prayer that we can give selfless loving service to those who are poor.

This week, please say a special prayer each day for the poor and forgotten in our parish.
