A message from our Pastor

Happy Memorial Day Weekend! It's official – the start of our Midwest summer season has begun and the cicadas are out in full force!

What originally began as a day to commemorate the fallen soldiers of the Civil War, Memorial Day is now a national holiday of remembrance for all fallen service men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country. Take a moment on Monday to acknowledge what the day represents. Perhaps you could join us for the annual Memorial Service for Veterans sponsored by Riverside American Legion Post 488. The ceremony will begin at 10:00 AM in the St. Mary Parish Center and all are welcome.

We will celebrate the feast of Corpus Christi on June 2 with a Eucharistic Procession following the 11:00 AM Mass at Mater Christi. Deacon Randy has provided further details about this feast and the logistics in today's bulletin. Please join us!

Just because it's summertime, don't miss out on what's going on in the parish. The best way to stay connected is to sign up for the parish eblast. It's easy – just go to the Quick Links on our parish website www.stpaulviparish.org scroll all the way down to "Join Our Weekly Newsletter" and enter your email address to the right in the blue box. Voila – you are now connected!

Mark your calendars for the parish Block Party on Sunday August 25. It's a wonderful event and lots of fun for everyone!

I hope these next weeks of end of school year activities, celebrations and graduations are filled with much joy and happiness. Try to plan some "down" time to re-charge your batteries – the 4th of July will be here before you know it - and the hum of the cicadas will be over!

Fr. Tom May, Pastor

Thank you for your service and your sacrifices.

A message from our Associate Pastor

This is graduation season we are proud of our St. Mary's graduates of 2024 who will be graduating on Wednesday. Please keep them in your prayers during this celebration and transition. Our class knows by now what high school they are going to but many may not know what to do after graduation. Chloe Langr of Aleteia has more to say. When I graduated from high school, I had no idea what I wanted to do with my life. Plans for pursuing a degree in nursing were quickly stifled by my lack of interest in biology classes and fear of blood — neither of which were good signs. After telling everyone through my senior year of high school that I was going to study medicine, I ate my words and entered college as a freshman with no direction, but a desire to learn. Stressed, frustrated and confused, I wish more people had told me that it was okay to not know exactly what I wanted my life to look like by the time I was 18 years old.

High school graduates are peppered with questions, but the one they'll hear the most is "So, what's next?" Some grads will have the next four years of their lives planned out on a spreadsheet with precise plans. But others may sheepishly shrug and admit they have no idea what they're supposed to do next. Our culture puts pressure on kids fresh out of high school to have their lives planned out. As a parent, it can be taxing to see your child struggle with discerning the next steps in their life.

Here are four things you can do to help guide your child if "I don't know" is their answer to what their life plans look like ...

1. Don't be afraid to take a step back and press pause

It's okay to not know what to do with the rest of life after graduation. Katherine Schwarzenegger, author of I Just Graduated – Now What? Honest Answers from Those Who Have Been There, didn't realize until after college was over that taking a break was a great response when questions about the future seemed daunting. "Pause and take the time to find out what's important to you," she writes. "Find out what you love, what's real and true to you—so it can infuse and inform your work and make it your own ... Pausing allows you to take a breath in your life. As everybody else is rushing around like a lunatic out there, I dare you to do the opposite."

2. Don't stress if your graduate hasn't decided on a college major

When I started my first year of college, I was an undecided, exploratory student. I thought I would be alone in a sea of students who knew exactly what they wanted to do with their time in college, so I was pleasantly surprised when I found other students in the exact same situation as me. I shouldn't have been that surprised though, since at least 50 percent of students entering their first year of college are undecided about their majors.

Once a student decides his or her academic major, they may not stick to it, either. Some 50 to 70 percent of students will change their majors at least once in their college career, while most will change their major three times before they walk across the stage to receive their diploma. By the time I earned my degree in history, I had declared my major two times, only to find out the department I thought I'd love wasn't a good fit. Let your student know that it's okay to be exploratory and decide later on in their college career what they want to study.

3. Realize that it's okay to be a scrapper

Are you worried if your high school grad doesn't go to the best college right away that their resume may be less than ideal? Regina Hartley, vice president of human resources at UPS thinks differently. In a TED talk, she talks about overcoming adversity as a "scrapper" — someone who had to fight against the odds to reach success. When Hartley read through the profiles of top business professionals, she realized something incredible: most of them were scrappers.

"The conventional thinking has been that trauma leads to distress, and there's been a lot of focus on the resulting dysfunction," Hartley said in the TED talk. "But during studies of dysfunction, data revealed an unexpected insight: that even the worst circumstances can result in growth and transformation. A remarkable and counter-intuitive phenomenon has been discovered, which scientists call Post Traumatic Growth."

If your student doesn't have a plan for the next four years, realize that overcoming uncertainty can build character. Not only does your student not have to have their life planned out all the way to retirement by the time they put on their cap and gown, but they can also grow through this time of uncertainty and become a better person.

4. Help your student find themselves through volunteer work

I wasn't the only one in my family to experience an identity crisis during the college years. During her time in college, my mom didn't know what to major in either. She took time off and spent it volunteering at a school where she discovered her love of teaching others. "Not knowing for certain what to do for the rest of your life at 18 I feel is actually normal," she told me. "Also, I feel that we are created to find happiness in a state of structure and learning. Bettering yourself in a routine of some sort can bring us a sense of accomplishment and peace."

Spending time in the service of others can help define the graduate's strengths and weaknesses. Encourage your student to travel, learn through life experiences and engage the world. But also encourage them to see the world through a lens of humility. If your student decides to volunteer, encourage them to realize that others, no matter how impoverished or in need, have incredible amounts of wisdom to share.

REFLECTIONS

RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

By Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

Precious things

I once wrote an article about a school that embraced the Reggio Emilia approach to education. This meant, in practice, a lot of fascinating things, and it was a fun piece to work on. But all these years later, I could not accurately describe the Reggio Emilia style of learning to anyone except to say this: they give the kids glass bowls and china plates.

That's what stuck with me, and that's what sticks out in my memory amidst the hundreds of intervening articles and interviews on other equally fascinating topics. I remember those glass bowls and cups lining the shelves, the fine china dishes, the beautiful shiny cutlery the children used for lunch.

This was a pre-school, and these students were three-year-olds. "If they drop a cup and it shatters, then they learn that glass can break. We clean it up," the teacher said with a shrug. The idea was that a child will never learn to handle a fragile, precious thing — and grow into an adult who can respect and cherish a fragile, precious thing — if they are not sincerely trusted with a precious thing whose fragility they bear personal witness to.

The breaking, you see, was part of the education.

The disciples worshiped, but they doubted. And yet, Christ gave them the Great Commission anyway, something fragile and important, something that could be easily dropped and easily broken. Christ knew who they were, what they were. They were mere human beings, deeply imperfect, scared and hesitant, a little slow on the uptake. He knows that's exactly what we are, too. But he gives us the Great Commission just as he gave it to them. Because that is what the Faith is: it is something perfectly beautiful, passed from one flawed person to another, throughout the ages — constantly dropped, constantly broken, and constantly, miraculously, pieced back together again.

"Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations."

— Matthew 28:19-20

MAY 29 - THE FEAST OF ST. PAUL VI

Please join us in prayer in honor of our Patron, St. Paul VI!

A novena is a nine-day prayer that you typically say to a specific saint for a special intention. Some people add on extra practices like fasting or acts of service to deepen their novena experience!

Praying a novena is especially powerful when you have an important intention. Here are some tips for how to pray a novena:

- Pick an intention for your novena.
- Set aside a specific time each day to pray the novena prayer. It's helpful to set a reminder on your phone or add it to your calendar ahead of time.
- Begin your novena on May 21 and end on the Feast Day of St. Paul VI. You can also begin your novena on the feast day on May 29.
- Each day, find a quiet place to pray where you will not be disturbed.
- Recite the prayer on the back of the prayer card. (Prayer cards will be available to pick up in our churches and at the office beginning this weekend.)
- Repeat for nine days.

Feast Day: May 29

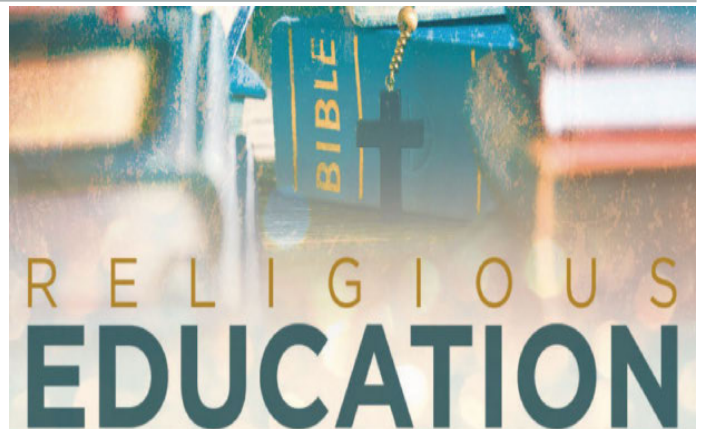

A EUCHARISTIC PROCESSION IN CELEBRATION OF THE SOLEMNITY OF CORPUS CHRISTI

Come and join us on Sunday, June 2nd, following the 11:00 am Mass at the Mater Christi worship site (weather permitting) for a Eucharistic Procession in celebration of the Solemnity of Corpus Christi. We will process the Blessed Sacrament as a people of faith around the block, making stops at the Mother of Mothers Shrine and the St. Hugh Faith Formation Center as a public proclamation of our belief in Jesus' True Presence in the Eucharist.

Pope Francis, in his 2021 homily on the Solemnity of Corpus Christi, commented, "The procession with the Blessed Sacrament...reminds us that we are called to go out and bring Jesus to others. To go out with enthusiasm, bringing Christ to those we meet in our daily lives."

At the conclusion of the procession, the Blessed Sacrament will be brought to the altar, and there will be an opportunity for Eucharistic Adoration, concluding with Benediction at 1:00 p.m.

2024-25 RELIGIOUS EDUCATION REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN

The St. Paul VI Religious Education program offers full preparation for the Sacraments of Initiation into the Catholic faith: Baptism, First Holy Eucharist, and Confirmation. Just as important, we prepare kids to live their Catholic faith every day!

Our goal at St. Paul VI Religious Education program is to help your child ignite their relationship with Jesus Christ. We are forming missionary disciples!

Faith Formation

All God's Children Are Made Perfectly!

SPRED (SPecial REligious Development) prepares those with special needs for Liturgical life.

SPRED is an agency of the Archdiocese and is a unique program designed for persons with physical and developmental disabilities. The program helps individuals with special needs to know God, grow in faith, and prepare for full participation in the sacramental life of the parish.

St. Paul VI is celebrating a special Mass for our SPRED friends & families, and those in our community who support us or want to know more about SPRED on Sunday, June 2 at 5pm at Mater Christi Church.

Please save the date, more information to come.

Through collaboration with Blessed Miguel Pro: St Pius X Church, individuals can attend SPRED from six years old through adulthood. Blessed Miguel Pro: St Pius X (Stickney) hosts the 6-10 year old group while the remaining age groups are facilitated at the St. Hugh Faith Formation Center on the Mater Christi campus of St. Paul VI. The age breakdowns are:

- Children: ages 6-10
- Teenagers: ages 11-16
- Young People: ages 17-21
- Adults 22 years and older

If you know of an individual in St. Paul VI Parish that would benefit from this program, please contact the Faith Formation Office of St. Paul VI at 708-447-1020.

Volunteers Needed!

Since SPRED is not a classroom model of religious education, we need adult volunteers who will be trained to form a small community of faith and grow in their own faith as they welcome people of a particular age group. You do not need experience or to have a degree in special education to volunteer with this program. Extensive training is provided, so you just need a willingness to grow in your faith and to welcome our friends! If you are called to service in this ministry, please contact us at 708-447-1020.
